About Aura Photography

In the last few years, technology has advanced to the extent that even a simple digital photograph can be scanned to see the aura and its components. This reading can be deciphered / analyzed to give information which could include the person's present state of health and mind, his stress levels, his strengths, and weaknesses. With the help of a detailed assessment of the scanned aura, individuals can detect the root thought process which could be a cause of the stress, frustration or difficulties faced.

Aura photography can indicate:

- your strengths and weaknesses
- the root cause behind an illness
- illnesses much before they actually surface as physical symptoms
- core issues troubling a relationship or career
- personal and spiritual growth of an individual
- the suitability of an individual in matters of matrimony or recruitment

Aura Photography is the visible proof that there exists an important and irrefutable correlation between our thoughts and our reality. The intent of this event is to create an awareness about this connection among people interested in bringing about a shift in the world of healing and self empowerment.
