Goa Bachao Abhiyan & ICG to organise Seminar on Planning for Goa

Goa Bachao Abhiyan and The International Centre Goa are co-organising an Interactive Seminar on Working with Ecology for a Successful Economy: Planning for Goa on Saturday, 20th February at 3.00 - 6.00 pm. The programme is part of the talks, lectures and seminars on Goa specific issues initiated at ICG.

This programme will be the first of a seminar series which will cover all aspects of the ecological landscape. The focus of this session is on 'Natural Cover' which would include Forests, Orchards and Mangroves, their intrinsic value and economic benefits. With the issue of climate change and India's pledge at the COP21 last year, there is an urgent need to catalyze more people to question current destructive economic practices. The need of hour is to recognize and integrate 'green infrastructure' as distinct parameters in economic progress.

The seminar will be moderated by Ms. Reboni Saha. The speakers will include Dr. Sayeeda Wafar, scientist and Executive Committee Member of Mangrove Society of India, Mr. David J Lobo, Entrepreneur & CMD - DeeJay Group, Mr. Miguel Braganza, Botanical Society of Goa and Prof. Pranab Mukhopadhyay, Department of Economics, Goa University.

Interested persons are invited to attend and dialogue. Entry is free and open to general public. To register or for details contact goabachaoabhiyan@gmail.com/ pro@incentgoa.com/ 2452805-10 (Ext. 604).
